LABORERS WHO DARE NEITHER TO COMPLAIN NOR CRITICISE.

Favoritism Shown by the Bosses How Good Places Are Held by Discreat Money-Spenders—The Glaring Seed of a Mechanical Superintendent.

People who read with a shudder of the reign of terror which prevails in Russia, where people dare not express an opinion regarding their superiors in secial or official life for fear of being sent to Siberia, may be surprised to learn that a somewhat similar state of affairs exists at their own doors. Yes

There are in one of the Government establishments in this city over a thousand men-with few exceptions free born American citizens-who are de prived of liberty of speech, who dare neither to complain of injustice nor criticise in public or private any act of their superiors; who dare not even ex-press an opinion regarding the place where they work on pain of instant dis-

The Washington Navy-Yard is the place referred to. That such a state of affairs should exist in an establishment owned and operated by the United States Government seems incredible. For more than a year past-there have been vague rumors of something wrong. At a public meeting held in South-west Washington under the auspices of the Knights of Labor in February or March of last year, ostensibly for the purpose of strengthening that order, several speakers binted that injustice and favoritism were being practiced in the Navy-Yard. When questioned after the meeting was over by the reporters these men refused to speak more definitely. A few days later they were discharged from the yard.

Since that time the ugly rumors grew apace, but it was almost impossible to trace them to their source. When, a few weeks ago, it was stated in a document presented by the K. of L. to the Senate Committee on Naval Affairs, in opposition to the confirma-tion of Mr. Folger, that a system of espionage and terrorism prevailed at the Navy-Yard, it was poon-pooned as the revengeful vaporings of a discharged employe. The man who drew up and presented this document was dis-

A reporter yesterday visited a large number of Navy-Yard employes of all classes. Some were seen in the privacy of their homes, others in public places but in nearly every instance the result was the same. The men all look dis-mayed when asked about affairs at the vard, shook their heads sadly, and, while admitting that there was a good deal that should be exposed, declined deal that should be exposed, declined to talk about the matter on the ground that they would be instantly dismissed if they did. A few of them were willing to talk, but in a very cautious and non-committal manner.

"If I was even to be seen in your company," said a stalwart young machinist, "it would somehow or other get to the ears of the authorities, and I would have my walking passaging along.

would have my walking papers in a day or two. Why, we daresn't even talk to one another about what goes on at the yard, for in the most mysterious manner our private conversations get back to the yard before we can get there ourselves. Talk about your Russian spy system, it isn't a bit worse than the one that prevails here. No, sir; you'll have to excuse me. I'd like to help you out, but I have a wife and children to support, and I must think of them first."

them first."
"No young fellow; you can't get anything from me," said another. "Well, yes; maybe there is many things at the yard and maybe there isn't; but you can't find out from me.' A very intelligent man, a first class

machinist who has been in the yard for years, was seen at his comfortable little tiously drew the reporter into his private room, shut the door and said: Bitter experience has made me cau tious; you see I don't even speak be fore my wife and children to you about affairs at the yard, for fear they might tet something slip out some day without intending it. I believe I can trust you, for I know that newspaper men never give away the names of confidential informants. 'A still tongue makes a wise head,' but, unfortunately for me, it took me a long time to learn that. used to have a fashion, when I first went into the Navy-Yard, of saying just what I thought about things, and it kept me poor for a long time. Sevcral times I was prevented from getting promotion and have also been suspended for talking too freely. Were I a less useful man I would have been discharged long ago. Should I be caught talking again, I know I would have to go; so I must request you. under no circumstances, to say you got anything from me.

"Favoritism is the great trouble at the Navy Yard. The foremen of the various shops have powers little less than 'despotic. If a man makes himsel 'popular' with the foreman he is sure o good pay. If he merely obeys orders attends to his work and makes no attempt to gain favor with the foreman he will get average pay, provided he keeps his tongue still. If he says any-thing about any mistake of the fore-man, or about favoritism or anything of that sort, he is put at some other work on less pay. Next time, if he has good luck, he may be suspended; if he is not lucky, he will be dismissed on some pretext or another.

"In order to gain favor with the foremen there are men throughout the yard who run to them and report every little conversation they hear reflecting on the management. Others gain their 'popularity' by a liberal use of money. Now, don't imagine that I mean to say there is any bribery: I don't believe there is; but there are many ways by which a man consider the control of t which a man can make himself popular by a liberal use of money. It is no un-common thing in the shops down here to see two men working side by side at the same work, both equally good me-chanics, both equally steady and relia-ble and doing the same amount of work cach day, both having been employed the same length of time, but one get-ting higher pay than the other. One is a 'popular' man, the other is not. Now, don't imagine that I am speaking from the point of view of a disappointed man, for I long since saw the error of my ways, and am now among the 'pop ular' class. I did not get there, though by any underhand means, but simply by spending more money in certain quarters than I used to.
"No: I do not think the naval officers at the yard have much to do with the state of affairs. The foremen are practically despotic. They recommend all promotions and increases of pay and the inspector of ordnance acts on their suggestions. An officer would, I supman, have no difficulty in getting the foreman to advance him, but I don't think there is much of that sort of thing. "No: the great trouble at the yard is that we have no mechanical superin-tendent. This gives the foremen too much authority, and, as a rule, while they may be good men in other respects, they are not of a class who should be trusted with despotic powers. There never was any superintendent at the yard with the exception of about seven months last year, when a Mr. Jeannette acted in that capacity. He got dissatis fied for some reason and quit. I be lieve that if there was a first class me hanical superintendent here, as would be the case in a private establishment of this kind, there would soon be an end to all the discontent. It is ridicuous for the Government to undertake to run a big machine shop on any dif-ferent system from that which experience has taught private firms to be the most successful."

Several other employes of the yard who were interviewed corroborated what was said by this gentleman, some of them, however, expressing them-selves in much stronger language regarding the favoritism said to be prac-ticed by the foremen and permitted, if not encouraged, by their superiors.

MR. GRAY'S TROUBLES.

Pistol Shots Fired Through His Window and His Clothes Stolen.

About six weeks ago some miscreant ired a pistol shot at the residence of Mr. C. H. Gray, on Q street, between Fourteenth and Fifteenth. The builet entered the nursery window, in the rear of the house, narrowly missed hit-ting Mrs. Gray and embedded itself in the wall of the room. The matter was promptly reported to the police and kept out of the newspapers, at the request of the police, to give them a chance to apprehend the person who fired the shot. They did not succeed in doing so.

About a week ago, in the middle of the day, another shot was fired through the nursery window, fortunately not hitting any of the inmates. This was also reported to the police without any result. A few days after the latter oc-currence, during Mr. Gray's absence, a negro appeared in the door of a neigh-boring stable and insulted Mr. Gray's

That night when Mr. Gray returned he made a tour through the alleys and in terms vigorous and full of meaning announced the summary course he would pursue upon the detection of the perpetrator of any more outrages. He also went to the neighboring police station and made some pointed remarks relative to the seeming inability of the police to afford his house protection rom such outrageous acts.

Chairs Dickens never wrote a truer thing than the following:

"Can anything be more pitiable than the sight of elderly men or women who realize that the strength of earlier years is departing? Down the plane of life, whose end is in darkness, they look, and wonder if their weary steps will carry them painlessly to the end."

Any elderly person who feels a trambling.

Any elderly person who feels a trembling Any enderly person who feets a trembling of the nerves, a weakening of the muscles, lessened vitality, decreased vigor, chilled hands or feet, needs—nay, must have—assistance. Money cannot render it. Drugs should be avoided. Here is what one of the greatest of modern physicians, a no less personage than Dr. Gardner, says on the subject.

"Elderly persons, who in winter suffer from cold feet and find artificial heat applied externally fall to afford relief, may, with undoubted propriety and advantage, take whisky and hot water on going to bed. If a headache or foul tongue follow, the inference is the spirit was impure, probably containing fusel oil. A very light trace of this noxious ingredient in spirit will, in some constitutions, produce headache, as accurate a test of impurity as chemistry can employ."

There is only one absolutely pure whisks There is only one absolutely pure whisky free from fusel oil, and that is the well-known and justly-popular Duffy's Pure Malt Whisky. It has all the properties that contribute to health and vigor, and none that injure. It cannot harm the stemach even of a child. It is sold universally and well merits its wonderful versally. JACKSON NOT POPULAR.

He Defeats the Georgetown Blacksmith in Quick Time. Peter Jackson, the colored pugilist, ast night added another victim to the many who have fallen beneath his pilefriving blows. Last night's aspirant or fistic honors and also for the $100 offered to any one who would stand before the Australian for four rounds, was George Walker a young black-

When he stepped on the stage at Kernan's Theatre, a wild howl greeted him and he was urged to do up the negro. Walker weighs about 180 pounds and although very active is almost devoid of science. He put up his hands like a real fighter and made a spring at Jackson landing about two feet from him. Then quick as a flash he turned and ran across the stage. Jackson followed him and when he turned he knocked him down with an upper cut. Walker was quickly on his feet and as quickly on the floor again, for Jackson had knocked him down. When he arose the second time he refused to go on with the contest and left the stage amid the jeers of the audience. Two years ago be tried to stand before Sullivan with the same success.

The crowd last night was enormous. To night a pugilist known to the sport-ing fraternity as "Gypsy Guy" will make an effort to stand up before Jackson for four rounds.
